Managing Director

What a great season! We successfully accomplished the 1st round of Resilience seminars conducted in Philippines, Manilla! This, would not become a reality without the support and commitment of our clients.

Due to the high demand for Resilience seminars in Philippines we are in the pleasant position to announce the next round of this service for 2019.

This unique season continued with our participation in two of the most reputable conferences. This offered us the opportunity to gather your insight on Safety as well as Human Element and further improve our services.

VENLYS at Philippines, Manila

Summer Resilience Seminars

VENLYS Maritime Specialisation Services successfully accomplished the first round of Resilience seminars conducted in Philippines, Manila from 23rd of July to 3rd of August.

A significant number of shipping companies grabbed the opportunity to train their Filipino seafarers at their homeland, in an effort to better implement and disseminate the Resilience concept in their crew and fleet.

During these two weeks the Resilience concept was introduced to more than 400 participants, who were also trained on how they can become Facilitators.

To make it more enjoyable for the participants, VENLYS applied various interactive exercises and offered them the opportunity to present the Modules to their colleagues.

Seafarers showed significant interest to these seminars and expressed their satisfaction and gratitude as this effort empowered their perception that their company indeed cares for them.

VENLYS Maritime Specialisation Services would like to thank the management and teams of every company in Philippines for their kind hospitality and support towards the successful completion of these seminars. We are committed to see you all soon!

Conference participation

VENLYS Maritime Specialisation Services actively supported and participated to two of the most esteemed conferences in Greece.

1st NAVIGATOR Shipping Decision Makers Weekend

VENLYS Maritime Specialisation Services was present at the 1st Navigator Shipping Decision Makers Weekend which was held at Chios from September 21 to September 23, 2018. VENLYS participated and contributed dynamically to the 1st panel titled "The Future of Shipping: The Role of Technology, Environmental Developments & Changes in Human Resources".

In particular, the MD of VENLYS, Mrs Katerina Skourtanioti, discussed the new roles and needed skills for people on-board ships and explained the approach of VENLYS on the Non-Technical Skills, Resilience and the contribution of the human element to the maritime safety.

VENLYS Maritime Specialisation Services would like to thank Danae Bezentakou and the Bezentakos family for an event excellent planned, the participants to the forum for the lively and fruitful discussions and we promise to be there next year and continue to support this initiative.

Safety 4 Sea

VENLYS Maritime Specialisation Services participate in the Safety 4 Sea Conference 2018 which took place on Wednesday 3rd of October at the Auditorium of the Eugenides Foundation in Athens.

We are determined to sponsor, support and promote such Safety4Sea initiatives/activities and enhance the safety envelop of the industry through the study of the human element and of the procedures onboard ships as well ashore.

Our MD, Mrs. Katerina Skourtanioti, participated in the 6th Panel of the conference; she presented the vision of VENLYS on a novel safety related approach for the shipping sector, the so called NEW SAFETY. Moreover, she explained some of the findings of our projects on resilience and safety culture and highlighted the bottlenecks and problems identified through these studies.

The audience accepted all the speakers at the Safety 2.0 panel with great interest and a lively discussion followed and concluded the specific panel.

Thank you Safety4Sea Conference!

Philippines Resilience Seminars – Next round

Due to the high demand of the Resilience Seminars which were conducted in Philippines and the demanding requests of our clients VENLYS Maritime Specialisation Services announces the exact dates for the next round of Resilience Seminars / Workshops for Facilitators in Philippines.

Our goal is to establish a continuous presence to Philippines twice a year and provide quality services to our clients.

These highly specialised seminars are eligible for all seafarers, irrespective from their Rank, and aim at introducing the concept of Resilience to the personnel of shipping companies.

The seminars will promote the importance of Resilience in relation to maritime safety and ship productivity in relation to human performance.

Our next visit to Philippines for conducting the seminars will take place from 28th of January to 8th of February 2019.

Due to the fact that this is a high demand service, in case you are interested to arrange/book dates email Mr. Alexandros Koimtzoglou at: alexandros.koimtzoglou@venlys.com.

The clock is already ticking!

Parlare Italiano?

VENLYS Maritime Specialisation was invited to participate and present its view on maritime safety and the human element at the workshop which will be organized by Associazione Italiana di Technica Navale (ATENA) on the 30th of October in Rome.

In particular, the focus of our presentation will be on the evolution of safety in the maritime industry and discuss how BBS, Resilience and Safety Culture are interrelated and contribute to the enhancement of the overall safety of a shipping company.
